Readings

Please read the following paper prior to lecture. Some general though questions are below.

R1. .................................................................................................................................................. Smalltalk

Read “Design Principles Behind Smalltalk” by Dan Ingalls. Available at http://www.cs.williams.edu/~freund/cs334/auxread/smalltalk/smalltalk.html

Think about the Principles set forth. Which are new? Which have we seen before? What principles are remniscent of Lisp? What is the scope of the language (ie, what is included in its definition)?