
Think about the Principles set forth. Which are new? Which have we seen before? What principles are reminiscent of Lisp? What is the scope of the language (ie, what is included in its definition)?